

A Fresh Identity

Hello,

There's an obvious change in style this month and you might be wondering why...

All change begins from within. As we grow in awareness and make different choices, our outside world naturally changes in response. However when I radically shifted my career path from chemical engineer to coach in 2000, little did I expect to be working as widely as I now do.

From leadership coaching to executive team development...

...and from keynote speaking to radio programmes,

this new identity is in response to all of these developments in my work.

What's New?

The past 12 months have been busy. Growth is possible even in uncertain times. I believe that this is because at the heart of all that I do, my aim is always to be:

- Progressive - at the leading edge of personal development
- Passionate - about developing leadership from 'within'
- Committed - to learning and challenging perceptions

Leadership Programmes

Developing leadership from within is the foundation of all of my work. In the past year, I have become accredited in the Transformational Leadership Model (TLQ) and a lead consultant with Real World Group, a Leeds based consultancy specialising in leadership research and development in the public sector.

Development Seminars

These are shorter development programmes which focus in depth on particular topics such as communication, change, stress and motivation.

...seminars will soon be available as open events so watch this space.

Chief Executives

As well as one-to-one coaching, I am now an accepted speaker for Vistage and The Academy for Chief executives working extensively with leadership development groups across the UK and beyond.

... the feedback has been tremendous. See testimonials

Funding Available

You could receive up to £1,000 funding for development programmes. I am working with the government initiative Train to Gain, where £1,000 is available if you are a CEO, Managing Director, Owner Manager or Senior Director.

*Subject to eligibility criteria.

Keynote Speaking

From HR conferences to leadership and change programmes, and from women-in-business events to Whitehall, I've delivered talks in every sector...

...and I'm now a speaker for the Whitehall and Industry Group leadership programmes.

Your Views

As always, I enjoy hearing your thoughts and comments so please do get in touch. All of my contact details remain the same.

Thank you for choosing to work with me and I look forward to continuing to support you and your organisation in the future.

Warmest,

Wise Words

"The strongest principle of growth lies in human choice."

George Eliot, English novelist, (1819-1880)
